Publishing Activities
March 2010

The Istituto Superiore di Sanità (ISS), the National Institute of Health in Italy, is the leading technical and scientific body of the National Health Service. The ISS researchers publish about 1600 articles per year in national and international journals and books. The digital archive DSpace ISS (<http://dspace.iss.it>) contains all publications by ISS researchers. The main publications edited by the ISS Publishing Unit are a quarterly journal (Annali), a monthly newsletter (Notiziario), some technical reports series. Since 2001 a PDF version of all these publications can be downloaded free of charge from the ISS website: www.iss.it. Annali publishes articles in English whereas all other publications are in Italian or English.

Annali dell'Istituto Superiore di Sanità

Quarterly science journal publishing original articles, reviews, monographs, technical and brief notes in the field of public health. It is peer-reviewed and indexed in the main bibliographic databases. Articles published as from 2001 are online at www.iss.it/anna. Since 2004 the full-text is also freely available in PubMed (www.pubmed.gov). Instructions to authors are printed in each issue and are available online.

Notiziario dell'Istituto Superiore di Sanità

Monthly newsletter reporting current information on research and other institutional activities including projects, conferences and news. It includes the Italian national epidemiological bulletin (BEN, Bollettino Epidemiologico Nazionale).

Rapporti ISTISAN

Technical reports publishing: studies, research and technical protocols of national and international importance, activities carried on at the ISS, workshops and conferences proceedings, technical standards. These reports are issued in five areas: Environment and health, Epidemiology and public health, Training and information, Pathologies, Technology and health.

ISTISAN Congressi

Abstracts of communications and posters presented at congresses or workshops held at or organized by the ISS.

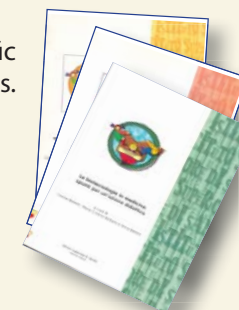

Strumenti di riferimento

Quick reference information tools publishing catalogues, bibliographies, directories, indexes, etc.

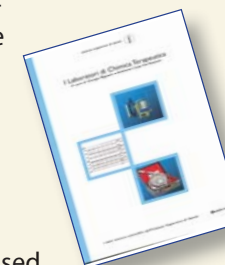

Publications for schools

Educational paths on scientific themes of interest to students. The series is published with the financial support of the Italian Ministry of University and Research (Law n. 6/2000 for the dissemination of scientific culture)

ISS historical-scientific heritage

The series "I documenti storico-scientifici dell'Istituto Superiore di Sanità" is aimed at safeguarding, preserving and studying the Institute's heritage collections of special scientific interest. Published monographic issues include scientific instruments used in therapeutical chemistry, organic elementary microanalysis and electronic microscopy.

Leaflets
